The 2010-2011 season will be pivotal for Chicago Choral Artists as we audition three applicants for the position of Artistic Director. During the evening we will announce the three outstanding candidates who, after an extensive auditioning process, have each been selected to direct one concert of our upcoming season.

Now more than ever we value your support, not only as an attendee at our concerts but as a financial benefactor. Thank you for the encouragement and assistance you have given us in the past. Thank you, too, for continuing to support us concert after concert, as we bring to our growing audiences the joy of truly beautiful music.
